

BEAUTY TALK

ROSIE HUNTINGTON-WHITELEY

When she's not walking the runway, the pillow-lipped model takes to the silver screen. So how does the Mad Max: Fury Road star always look so fresh? It must be something to do with all that exercise...

Tell us about your beauty routine.

"I like to feel like 'me' so when I'm not working I keep it very simple. I use a BB cream and team it with feline eyes and lots of lashes."

What about skincare? How do you get that gorgeous glow?

"I keep my skin as clean as I can. I use cleanser, toner and serums. I like [US brand] iS Clinical. And I wear sunscreen every day."

Any haircare advice you can share?

"I get it cut regularly, which I think is essential for great hair. My hairstyle doesn't change much. I stick to what I like best: long."

How do you keep your body in shape?

"I start the day with a green juice made with vegetables and chlorella—my secret ingredient for an extra-healthy boost. I also work out with my personal trainer, James Duigan, and my yoga teacher, Claire Grieves—they've changed my life. Both are Australian; you Aussies know how to stay in great shape! I love kickboxing and gym sessions, too. LA is geared towards healthy living so my days off are spent horseriding, surfing and swimming."

You obviously lead a very active life!

Between modelling and acting, you must have picked up a few beauty tips. What's the best you've heard?

"If you have time to do only one thing, play up your best asset. If your eyes are your favourite feature, use a little liner and mascara. If you love your lips, add a bright colour. It's all about enhancing what you have." —SARAH BROOKS-WILSON

2013
"I like to play up one feature and keep everything else fresh so for this look my make-up artist, Monika Blunder, went for a raspberry lip."
